TANTRA

13 messages. 6 get them in the room. 7 follow up.

The live-session message library, timed to the minute →

In one big dataset, about half never showed up.

47.7%

average show-up across 33,786 sessions in 2025. And 15.3% of people registered on the day itself.

So the reminders matter as much as the invite.

Source: Livestorm Webinar Benchmark Report 2026 (2025 data).

Get them in the room: 1 to 3

1

THE MOMENT THEY REGISTER

Confirm: you're in, the time, what they'll leave with

email

2

7 DAYS BEFORE

A small exercise that primes the session

email

3

THE DAY BEFORE, 08:00 THEIR TIME

What to bring: their numbers, last week's exercise, their objection

email + WhatsApp

Get them in the room: 4 to 6

4

1 HOUR BEFORE

Starting in an hour. Join on time

email + WhatsApp

5

15 MINUTES BEFORE

One line, one link

WhatsApp

6

AT THE START

We’re live. Here’s what’s happening now

WhatsApp

Then two branches.

4 for people who came

- The offer and a short call to check fit
- Next day: a recap
- Day 2: one proof line
- Day 3: last call, real deadline

3 for people who didn’t

- Next day: the replay and its expiry
- Day 2: the one idea they missed
- The day the replay closes

Three rules make it work.

1. One link per message.

Nothing else to click.

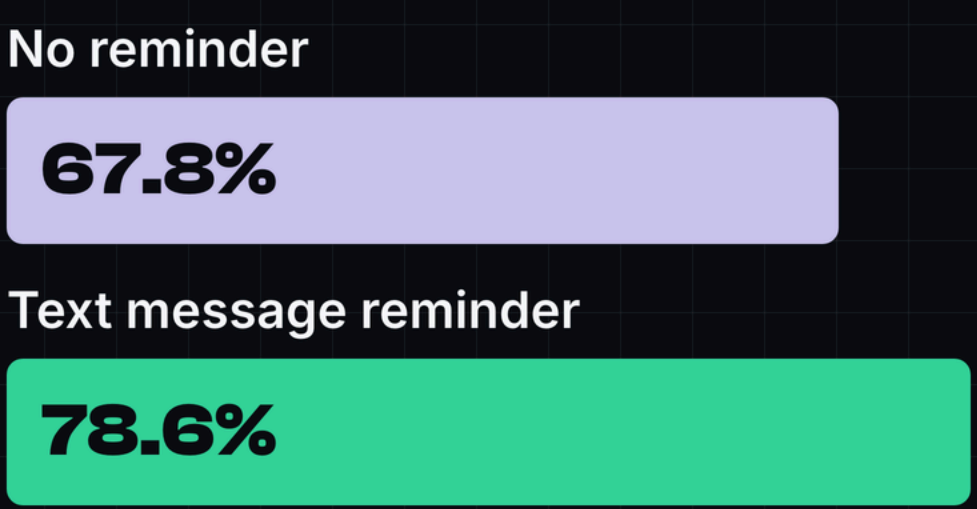

2. Late means dropped, never sent late.

Someone who registers an hour before gets 4 messages, not 6.

3. Layer them.

Several timed notes beat one reminder an hour before.

Why layer? A different setting, the same humans.

Attendance at healthcare appointments, Cochrane review (2013). A 2016 BMJ Open meta-analysis also found several notifications beat one.

Clinic research, not webinars: an analogue, not a promise.

Who gets what

Registered	Before the session	Most
A week early	All 6	10
An hour before	Confirm, 1 hour, 15 min, live	8

Plus 4 follow-ups if they came, 3 if they didn’t. No one gets all 13.

TANTRA

Count how many of the 6 your next session actually sends.

Day 2 of the workshop

The 3-Day AI RevOps Workshop

Next cohort Wed 4 Nov · 11:00 AM ET · three live sessions

You build the engine with us, not notes about it. Link in the comments.