Funnel pages edition. Swipe →

AI drafts of funnel pages all sound alike, because you ask for them in one line...

Here are 4 PRO prompts to build funnel pages faster

Each one has the same 8 parts. You bring the facts. The prompt brings the structure.

REGISTRATION PAGE HEADLINE

DON'TS ❌

"Write me a headline for my workshop page."

AI What comes back

Transform Your Business With Our Exclusive Workshop! Discover the secrets top leaders use to grow.

× No buyer. No proof. Two promises.

DO'S ✅

YOUR TASK: Write the headline and subhead for my registration page.

WHERE THIS SITS IN MY FUNNEL: Stage 2, Landing. The reader just clicked a calendar invite. Next, they fill in the form, which sits above the fold on a 1366 x 768 laptop.

THE FACTS TO USE: Buyer: [FILL: role, company size]. Outcome: [FILL: what they leave with]. Event line: [FILL: title, date, time, time zone]. Proof: [FILL: number, who, when].

THE TEMPLATE: Headline: the promise, under 12 words. Subhead: the mechanism in one line.

RULES: No hype words. No invented numbers. A missing fact stays [FILL].

REFERENCE EXAMPLE: [PASTE: a headline and subhead from a page that worked]. Mirror its structure, never its claims.

WHAT TO RETURN: Version A leads with the outcome. Version B answers this objection: "[FILL: objection, word for word]".

CHECK BEFORE YOU ANSWER: Is every claim in my facts? Is the headline under 12 words? Is there one promise, not two?

CALENDAR INVITE

DON'TS ❌

"Write a calendar invite for my event."

AI What comes back

Title: You're Invited! An Exciting Session You Won't Want to Miss!! We're thrilled to invite you to...

✕ No buyer named. No polite no.

DO'S ✅

YOUR TASK: Write the calendar invite for my live workshop: the title and the description.

WHERE THIS SITS IN MY FUNNEL: Stage 1, Traffic. It lands in the buyer's calendar 8 to 12 days before the session. Next, they accept it or register.

THE FACTS TO USE: Who it's for: [FILL: role, segment]. What they leave with: [FILL: one outcome]. Session: [FILL: title, date, time, time zone]. Link: [FILL: registration link].

THE TEMPLATE: Title under 60 characters. Lines 1 and 2: who it's for and what they leave with. Line 3: one line that makes declining easy. Then the link.

RULES: Merge fields only: {first_name}, {company}, {role}. No AI-written line per person. No hype, no invented numbers.

REFERENCE EXAMPLE: [PASTE: an invite your buyers accepted]. Structure only.

WHAT TO RETURN: Version A leads with the outcome. Version B answers this objection: "[FILL: objection, word for word]".

CHECK BEFORE YOU ANSWER: Is the title under 60 characters? Do the first two lines say who and what? Is saying no easy?

REMINDER SMS

DON'TS ❌

"Write a reminder text for my event."

AI What comes back

Hey there!! Friendly reminder that our amazing event is coming up soon! Don't miss out!!

✕ No time zone. No join link.

DO'S ✅

YOUR TASK: Write the SMS reminder registrants get on the day of my live workshop.

WHERE THIS SITS IN MY FUNNEL: Stage 3, Nurture. The reader registered and got the confirmation. Next, they show up live.

THE FACTS TO USE: Session: [FILL: title, start time, time zone]. Join link: [FILL: link]. What they leave with: [FILL: one outcome].

THE TEMPLATE: One SMS: their first name, the start time in their time zone, the one outcome, the join link.

RULES: Under 160 characters. Sent between 8am and 8pm their time. One link. No hype, no invented urgency.

REFERENCE EXAMPLE: [PASTE: a reminder people acted on]. Structure only.

WHAT TO RETURN: Version A leads with the outcome. Version B answers this objection: "[FILL: objection, word for word]".

CHECK BEFORE YOU ANSWER: Is it under 160 characters? Is the time in their time zone? Is there one link only?

FOLLOW-UP EMAIL

DON'TS ❌

"Write a follow-up email for people who attended."

AI What comes back

Subject: Thank You So Much for Attending!!! We hope you found it valuable! Any questions, just let us know...

✕ No session idea. No next step.

DO'S ✅

YOUR TASK: Write the follow-up email for people who attended my live workshop.

WHERE THIS SITS IN MY FUNNEL: Stage 4, Conversion. They came to the session. Next, they book a call.

THE FACTS TO USE: The one idea they heard: [FILL: idea]. The next step: a 30-minute video call. Booking link: [FILL: link]. Proof: [FILL: number, who, when].

THE TEMPLATE: Subject under 8 words. Line 1: the one idea from the session. Line 2: what the call covers. Then the booking link and a one-click no.

RULES: Body under 120 words. One link. A No is final: no chasing after it. No invented urgency, discount or numbers.

REFERENCE EXAMPLE: [PASTE: a follow-up email that got replies]. Structure only.

WHAT TO RETURN: Version A leads with the outcome. Version B answers this objection: "[FILL: objection, word for word]".

CHECK BEFORE YOU ANSWER: Is the subject under 8 words? Is there one link? Is every claim in my facts?

THE 8 PARTS, IN THIS ORDER

1. YOUR TASK
   The one element you want back. One, not five.

2. WHERE THIS SITS IN MY FUNNEL
   The stage, what the reader saw just before, what they do next.

3. THE FACTS TO USE
   Your offer, buyer, proof and links. Anything missing: [FILL].

4. THE TEMPLATE
   The shape of the answer, block by block, with lengths.

5. RULES
   Length, tone, what to leave out. No invented numbers.

6. REFERENCE EXAMPLE
   A real element to mirror. Structure only, never its claims.

7. WHAT TO RETURN
   Version A leads with the outcome. Version B answers the objection.

8. CHECK BEFORE YOU ANSWER
   The checks the AI runs on its own draft before you see it.

Why this order: facts come before the template, so nothing gets made up. The check comes last, so the draft is tested before you read it.
